December 2024

Monthly investment update

In November, the US presidential election ended with Donald Trump securing a decisive victory, claiming key swing states early. The Republican Party gained control of Congress, paving the way for Trump's agenda, including tariffs, deregulation, corporate tax cuts, and immigration restrictions.

Whilst Trump's cabinet appointments raised eyebrows, reflecting unconventional policy approaches, markets reacted positively. US equities and the dollar rallied post-election, driven by optimism around Trump's pro-growth policies and strong corporate earnings. The Russell 2000 rose 11% in November, while the S&P 500 gained nearly 6%, led by healthcare, IT, and communication services. However, commodities, like copper and oil, fell on global growth concerns.

November was a good month for equities, especially as we saw broader participation from stocks across sectors and not just the Magnificent 7. Going forward, fiscal policies globally will continue to play an important role in shaping market trades. As always, we continue to monitor geopolitical risks when constructing portfolios, with a focus on quality companies able to withstand political turbulence.

Strategy description

This portfolio looks to achieve capital growth in excess of inflation, whilst supporting inclusive economic development by investing in more environmentally and socially sustainable business practices. The portfolio will look to do this by investing in a diversified range of funds, which allocate capital to sustainable themes, such as healthcare and social housing, financial inclusion and education, the circular economy and renewable energy. The portfolio is diversified across a range of asset classes with a medium allocation to funds investing in equities (expected to be no greater than 35%) and other risk assets.

Our sustainable investment pillars

Portfolio pillar mapping

As part of the LGT Wealth Management Sustainable Portfolio Service, we have developed four sustainable investment pillars. These pillars encompass investment themes and the related UN SDGs, which they aim to support. Two of the pillars target social themes and two target environmental themes. This allows the translation of a framework based on a global, wide-reaching social and environmental change into an investable universe of ideas.

In order to better understand the thematic exposure of the portfolios, we have aligned the underlying funds to our sustainable pillars.
